

CITY WILL REGISTER RELIEF CLIENTS TUESDAY

CITY EMPLOYEES AWARDED WAGE BOOSTS TODAY

New Salaries Created In Ordinance Passed By Councilmen

POLICE, FIREMEN GET 10 PER CENT

Engineer Gets Increase, But Must Perform Additional Duties

City council, in a surprise move at a special meeting Friday night, passed an ordinance granting salary increases for non-elective employees of the city, including the police and firemen. The boost in the wage scale averages about 10 per cent.

The city electrician, whose job was placed under civil service three years ago, the clerk of council and the clerk of the water works department, were not included in the salary raises. "The water works clerk, however, received a pay increase several months ago."

Add To Engineer's Duties
An important change brought about by the passage of the measure is the establishment of a $2,400 annual salary for City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff, who formerly received $1,200. This raise was made by council in adding extra duties for the engineer. Hereafter, it is explained, the engineer will assume new duties, including work that heretofore was incumbent upon the city chemist. In addition to his regular engineering duties, Barckhoff will have full and complete supervision and responsibility over the analysis of both the water supply and the sewage disposal system.

Raise Hourly Scale
The ordinance raises the wage of the service department workers five cents an hour, bringing the scale to 65 cents, except for common laborers who will receive 55 cents. The disposal plant workers received a five-cent an hour increase.

The salaries of regular firemen and policemen will be $148.50 a month, instead of $137.

Hen Mothers Brood Of Seven Kittens

MARION, May 22.—A Plymouth Rock hen belligerently mothered today the seven kittens of a cat which more prefers to spend her time gadding about.

The kittens were born in a nest in the henhouse of G. E. Johnstone, and the hen immediately took them under her wing. When the cat came near to Johnstone's back porch, the chicken accompanied them.

The mother cat, apparently undisturbed by the situation, comes around only at feeding time.

Good Medicine For Non-Stop Motorist

SALT LAKE CITY, May 22.—It was wash day for Merl Worthington, 20, who painstakingly scrubbed with soap and water every inch of a curbing stop sign.

Justice of the Peace Fred Lindbeck ordered him to scour the sign for having failed to observe it.

P-I—SEVEN REASONS

7 Reasons Why All Should Aid Community Chest Fund

Boy Scouts

Four troops in Salem, one in Winona and one in Homeworth are included in the Salem district of the Boy Scout organization. Another troop is being formed and in the past year the membership has increased 20 per cent.

It is the aim of Scout officials, who are outstanding adult leaders of the community, to teach boys good citizenship and community service, as well as how to become proficient in many lines of activity.

Courts of honor are held each month when scouts may qualify for advancement. The Salem scouts also have the use of the county reservation of 130 acres just west of Lisbon.

Home For Aged Women

The Salem Home for Aged Women was one of the first such homes founded in this part of the country. It was opened in 1888 for the care of aged and infirm women of moderate circumstances and in the 49 years of its existence 78 women have found shelter within its walls.

It is only through the cooperation of Salem citizens that the board of managers is able to care for the family of aged women at the home at E. State st. and Washington ave.

Community Band

The Salem Community band is distinctly a "youth" movement. About 85 per cent of its members are in their teens—youngsters who have the advantage of sitting beside trained and proficient musicians.

Fifty nights a year Director Ray Bartholomew, one of the greatest musicians this district has ever produced, gives them instructions and the average attendance is more than 50 members. At its six or seven public appearances last year the band massed 100 pieces.

The band is unique. Both sexes and all races, creeds, colors and ages are represented in its personnel. The only requirement for admission is possession of a band instrument, coupled with the desire to learn to play it.

City Hospital

Free hospitalization services costing the institution $14,041.43 were given at Salem City hospital last year. That is one of the many reasons why the community supports with funds each year the hospital built 24 years ago by public contributions.

During the year the hospital took care of 150 more patients than in 1935 and the free hospitalization amounted to twice as much as in the preceding year.

SWOC PREPARING LABOR CAMPAIGN

Organizing Committee Starts Drive To Aid More Men

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—The steel workers organizing committee followed up today its smashing triumph in the nation's biggest government-supervised employee election with a renewed drive to win collective bargaining contracts for 200,000 additional workers.

Secrecy guarded the committee's strategy against five big steel producers independent of the U. S. Steel corporation, but Chairman Philip Murray disclosed he expected "concrete results" within a week.

Salvation Army

The Salvation Army shares in the Community Chest fund because it offers family relief, takes care of transients and assists in caring for probate court cases.

Last year the army helped 50 families, distributed 470 garments, 61 pairs of shoes and 84 pieces of furniture.

Relief to transients included night's lodging for 85, meals for 65, 35 pairs of shoes and 75 garments. Fourteen transient families were aided.

Red Cross

Salem chapter, American Red Cross, serves Salem in the capacity of a social agencies organization. Its activities are so broad that it has given service of some kind to almost every group and individual within the city.

The Red Cross takes care of the needy, offering food and clothing, nursing care, medical attention. The chapter handles mothers' pension and adjusted compensation cases for veterans, its welfare work is carried on in conjunction with the probate court, travelers' aid and other agencies.

There are free swimming lessons, courses in hygiene and care of the sick. Flood and other relief work is assumed by this group and more individuals and groups are depending upon it for aid every year.

Memorial Building

This community center is gaining in popularity each year. Last year 323,000 used the building and equipment, as compared with 93,000 participants 13 years ago.

Seventy basketball and 36 softball teams used the building last season, together with 112 organized teams of various games for men, boys and girls.

The building's auditorium was used for civic club meetings, political, welfare, farm, dairy, lodge, church, shop men, girls' clubs, boys' clubs, various parties, health meetings, veterans' meetings, etc.

Cost of operation has decreased from $22,000 the first year to $8,000 last year and salaries paid last year totaled $3,040 as compared with $12,440 when the building was first opened to the community.

RETURN TO WORK AT COLUMBIANA

Recognition of CIO And Increases In Wages Granted By Franklin Furniture Company

Employees of the Franklin Furniture Co. at Columbiana, out on strike since May 4, returned to work this morning.

Recognition of the CIO and wage increases were granted, L. Frank Smith of Salem, president of the company, announced.

The agreement was reached Friday afternoon and the men agreed to return to work at once.

Rep. Thom, Canton, Upholds WPA Funds

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Reduced federal relief appropriations will "slam the door of opportunity to 2,000,000" persons on Works Progress Administration rolls, Rep. William R. Thom of Canton, O., said today.

Any reduction in the President's $1,500,000,000 relief budget, Thom told the house yesterday, would be "unsound and unjust" to industrial centers from which most WPA workers are drawn. One million WPA employees, 350,000 of them women, are more than 45 years of age, Thom said, and "no longer could get jobs in private industry."

Swoc Preparing Labor Campaign

Organizing Committee Starts Drive To Aid More Men

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—The steel workers organizing committee followed up today its smashing triumph in the nation's biggest government-supervised employee election with a renewed drive to win collective bargaining contracts for 200,000 additional workers.

Secrecy guarded the committee's strategy against five big steel producers independent of the U. S. Steel corporation, but Chairman Philip Murray disclosed he expected "concrete results" within a week.

Crucible To Answer

Murray will receive Monday the answer of the Crucible Steel company to a demand for bargaining rights for union members in the company's plants. Crucible employs 18,000.

He expects the same day to receive a contract from the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, in whose plants the committee won a better than two to one victory in Thursday's elections.

The corporation agreed to a pact if the union obtained a majority.

In Chicago Tuesday, Regional Director Van A. Bittner will confer with the Inland Steel corporation which employs 11,000. In addition to Inland and Crucible the other independents facing the committee's "sign or we strike" ultimatum were the Republic Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Bethlehem Steel.

See Another Victory

Murray foresaw another victory for the John L. Lewis union in an employee election Tuesday at the Sharon Steel company works in Sharon, Pa. Four thousand workers will go to the polls there to choose a representative in wage and hour negotiations.

Subliminal union leaders discouraged talk of a parade to celebrate the Jones & Laughlin victory and urged the men to keep at work on the largest peace-time backlog of orders in the company's history.

A 36-hour strike of union men last week was partly responsible for the accumulation of the orders. The agreement to the election settled the walkout.

Dog Warden Visits In Salem Next Week

Salem residents owning unlicensed dogs had best be prepared for a visit from Columbiana County Dog Warden D. A. Butch.

Butch announced today from his office in Lisbon that he and two assistants, William Thomas of Lisbon and Arch Mullen of East Liverpool, will be in Salem next week to call on all local residents who haven't taken out licenses for their dogs. He also plans to impound any strays found on the streets.

One local resident already has been arrested and fined for harboring an unlicensed dog.

Pottery Worker, 60, Critically Injured

William J. Williamson, 60, of 407 South Fifteenth st., Sebring, employed as a kiln placer at the plant of the Limoges China Co., Sebring, was reported in a critical condition today at Salem City hospital, where he was taken at 2:40 p. m. yesterday following an accident at the plant.

Williamson was caught between two moving conveyor cars and suffered a chest injury.

Edward To Wed Wallis With Royal Family's Ring June 3

(By Associated Press)
MONTES, France, May 22.—Wallis Warfield, it was learned today, will be married with the same traditional ring of British royalty she would have received had Edward of Windsor been able to make her his queen.

A source close to the Chateau de Candé household disclosed the Duke will slip a wedding ring of Welsh gold, similar to those worn by other wives of Britain's royalty, on Mrs. Warfield's third finger during the ceremony.

Quits Pennsy Rail Service

Homer S. Bare of Chicago, Formerly of Salem, Terminates Service at End of 45 Years

After 45 years' service with the Pennsylvania railroad, Homer S. Bare of Chicago, former ticket agent at the Pennsylvania station in Salem, has retired.

Bare began his railroad career with the Pennsylvania in 1892 as ticket clerk at Canton. He was transferred to Salem in 1897 and served as ticket agent here until 1904, when he returned to Canton as ticket agent.

From Canton he went to the Federal st. station in Pittsburgh as agent and in 1916 he was appointed ticket agent at the Dearborn st. station in Chicago, where he served until his retirement a few days ago.

Bare expects to remain in Chicago, where he resides at 6810 S. Lowe ave.

DAYTON, May 22.—Residents of West Dayton were without lights for an hour and a half last night when a wind and rain storm swept this section and blew a tree across a power transmission line.

Bible Research Expert To Give Series Of Lectures

A series of illustrated lectures on the general theme "World Conditions In The Light of Bible Prophecy" will be given five nights next week at the First Friends church by Rev. Milton B. Lindberg of the Biblical Research society, formerly a missionary in the Holy Land for four years.

The first of Rev. Lindberg's messages will be delivered Monday night on the subject "Remarkable Prophecies Fulfilled—Is the Bible Inspired?" Subjects of his other sermons are: Tuesday night, "Regathering of Israel In Palestine and Russia for the Greatest Conflict In History"; Thursday night, "When the World?"; and Friday night, "Signs of the Times and the Sign."

The sermons will be given at 7:30 each night.

Rev. Lindberg's lectures are of an interdenominational nature and have been approved by the Salem Ministerial association, of which Rev. Raymond D. Walter of the Presbyterian church is president.

COUNCIL OKAYS PROCEDURE AT SPECIAL MEET

Four Ward Councilmen To Act As Relief Administrators

CITY OFFICIALS WARN "CHISELERS"

Indigents to Sign Statements At City Hall Tuesday Morning

Members of city council, at a special meeting Friday night at city hall, set the wheels going for the city to take over the care of its relief clients, who previously were provided food, clothing and medicine orders by the county relief administration.

The doors of the Columbiana county relief office at Lisbon closed today, however, bringing to an end the county's administration of relief cases. All field investigators and members of the administration staff have been dismissed.

Registration Starts Early
Registration of all persons who expect to be on the city's relief roster will take place at the water works office in city hall Tuesday from 9 a. m. to late afternoon, Mayor George Harroff announced today, speaking for members of council.

The relief clients are asked to report to the city hall office sometime during the day to register and sign a statement certifying their eligibility to receive relief.

The councilmen last night approved a plan of monthly registration for the indigents as a means of eliminating "chiselers" from the relief rolls. The four ward councilmen, C. F. Zimmerman, Emmor H. Taylor, Paul Myers and George Lewis, will act as investigators and administrators of the city relief setup, thereby eliminating the hiring of a case worker or supervisor.

Council to Meet Again

City officials estimate there are between 35 and 40 families eligible to receive relief here. Mayor Harroff has handled 12 emergency relief cases within the last few days, issuing food and medicine orders.

Council will meet next Wednesday night to map definite plans for caring for local relief clients. A total registration will be available at that time. The relief administration is expected to be financed by money from the general fund of the city treasury.

Mahoning Grangers Guests of Goshen

A Mahoning county project meeting was held Thursday evening at Goshen grange hall, with Goshen entertaining Greenford and Garfield. Greenford presented the program and Garfield the work in the second degree.

The program follows: Recitation, Vernon Kamper; song, Edna Mathers; educational talk, Ralph Goddard; pantomime, "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," Mr. and Mrs. Pyle, Mrs. Anne Campbell, Olin Shoor and Mrs. W. P. Mellott; talk, W. P. Mellott; tap dance, Harold Smith. More than 200 grangers attended.

Mahoning county Pomona grange will meet May 29 at Ellsworth grange hall with day and evening programs. On June 2 the Lawrence County Pomona will convene in Pleasant Hill grange hall.

At the next Mahoning county project session Garfield grange will entertain at Goshen Township High school. North Lima will have the program and Dublin the second degree work. Juveniles of the three groups will meet at that time in Garfield hall.

The home economics committee, headed by Mrs. Otis Rhodes, will give reports of a state meeting, during the regular Goshen session, June 4.

The juveniles enjoyed the following program Thursday night: Recitation, Ruth Martig; solo, Edna Mathers; recitation, Ruth Shoor; piano, Charlene Morton; recitation, Vernon Kamper; piano duet, Edna Mathers and Charlene Morton; stunt, Elma Mathers; reading, Junior Rhodes; piano duet, Deborah and Priscilla Beery. The last two numbers were given by Goshen grange juvenile members, the others, by Greenford.

Al Smith Completes First Ocean Voyage

REVENGE

A vital consideration in the bickering between Democrats over court packing is the fact that primaries and elections for congress take place in 1938. All representatives and a third of the senators must go before their constituents. A report that President Roosevelt may cut them loose from his coat tails and the Farley election machine to stand on their own feet, unless they vote his way on the court bill, is disturbing.

It is a potent threat. Mr. Roosevelt still is the only strong political figure in the country, and congressmen must be realistic about their own chances of survival.

If, in their opinion, he could punish them effectively for failing to go into the tank on his command, they would have good reason to think twice before refusing. Postmaster General Farley talked frankly about that very thing a few days ago; it is no secret.

The possibility hinges on the President's ability to transmute his personal popularity, as of last November, to support for court packing as of 1938. So far, he has not made a good start. The Institute of Public Opinion reports a majority against court packing. Congressmen know from their mail that the plan does not command widespread support.

Another Democratic president, Woodrow Wilson, once went to the country over the heads of congressmen to seek revenge for their opposition to his pet plan. Too late, he learned they knew more about public opinion than he did.

HOW ABOUT $1,499,999,999.99?

Congress is cocked and primed to spend $1,500,000,000 on work relief next year. "This," says a spokesman for the Democratic steering committee, "is the amount the country overwhelmingly believes should be appropriated."

Come, come, who says so? In five minutes on a downtown street or 30 minutes on a country road it would be possible to get estimates ranging from nothing all the way up to the figure for last year's national income.

Plenty of congressmen, who think they know what their constituents think, say a billion would be a great plenty. Others insist two billion would be a reasonable minimum. All that a billion and a half really represents is an arbitrary demand.

With no reliable statistics on unemployment, one guess is as good as another. The idea behind relief expenditures is to pump out from the treasury an amount of cash which, in the opinion of the administration, will be sufficient to do what it thinks must be done—and what it thinks is its own business.

Maybe a billion and a half is as good a figure as any, but there's no overwhelming demand for it.

LEON THE LION

There's nothing funny about Leon Trotsky, and there's nothing funny, either, about announcement that Russia's red army of 1,300,000 will be enlisted in the fight against the bearded little exile in Mexico City.

Nevertheless, the caricature of hordes of grim gun-bearers on the trail of Leo the Lion is more likely to tickle the funny bone of Americans than it is to stir up their indignations, or their sympathy.

For Trotsky is safe in Mexico, and probably well guarded. He hasn't been inside Russia for many years. His only contact with that land is through ideas, but the masters of the new order there have made that contact a potent one by their policy of suppression. They have made a martyr of their victim, something all intelligent American policemen know better than to do any more.

The pen still is mightier than the sword. When all the Trotskyites have been shot in the head or packed off somewhere to die more slowly, the Trotsky idea still will be springing up between the boots of the earnest peasant boys who have been given the task of scourging it out of the country—1,300,000 of them to one.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, May 23

Sunday's horoscope is a very important one, with presage of lively and stirring situations, and possibly sudden upheavals or quite unforeseen changes or journeys. While there are omens of loss, fraud, deception and obstruction, yet with cleverness, shrewd schemes or the aid of secret plans or a curious intervention affairs may be turned to success.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which their individual cleverness and vigilance may balance some very hazardous situations. There are signs of sudden upheavals and unexpected journeys, with loss, fraud, duplicity and misrepresentation menacing.

A child born on this day may be highly gifted in unusual lines, possibly in science or invention or in connection with the development of nature's finer forces. But it may be eccentric and peculiar and attain a conspicuous place in the public eye.

For Monday, May 24

Monday's astrological forecast is for the breaking away of old frustrating circumstances or crystallized conditions, to make way for decisive attack in the launching of new and important projects. These may win the indorsement and financial support of "big business" or of very powerful or influential personages.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is will find themselves in a very important and progressive year, with the launching of new projects following the breaking up of old congestions and obstacles. Industry, energy and meritorious propositions are sure to win the attention and financial support of large interests or probably the indorsement of powerful persons or those in authority. Such contacts may be made with security.

A child born on this day may be progressive, enterprising, practical, industrious and ambitious. It may attain position and popularity through its initiative and lively personality.

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, May 22—There is no something purposeful and noble about a soft feathery candle flame skirling upward in the wavering dusk of a church cathedral or even tea room. The most appealing popular song lyric of all time was: "Through the sycamores the candle lights are gleaming."

The nearest I ever came to religious ecstasy was in stopping before the cathedral at Rouen one midnight, driving from Paris to Havre. Through a partly opened door a single candle flickered a pale yellow. Overhead the silver gray sky, stillness and a scatter of stars.

With me was a one-time actor, calloused by the disillusionments of Broadway, who suddenly exclaimed: "All this makes me feel a bit floaty. There must be something to this church stuff after all." Nothing is more like life itself than a flaming candle. Burning briefly at times and suggesting a plume of pomp. At other times sputtering darkly and filling the air with waits of despair. Guttering sometimes into oblivion and at other times remembered as a promising beacon. Frequently lingering, frequently snuffed out.

When Death comes to membership of the Lambs and the toll has been heavy of late years—there is an especial bulletin board upon which the announcement is made. One of the legends of the club concerns Wilton Lackaye, who stopped before the latest posting one day and, turning way, sighed: "It's always the wrong one." But the Lambs and Players are without caustic wits now that Lackaye, Oliver and Hereford have gone over the horizon.

The measure of the true artist has always struck me as being summed up by the incomparable painter, Corot. He played tag with success and sold his first painting at the age of 51. Felicitated by a friend upon the long-sought recognition, he murmured without enthusiasm: "It is indeed nice to sell something at last, but my own collection is spoiled."

Authors frequently have some amusing and sometimes embarrassing experiences with autographed volumes. John Kendrick Bangs once sent a complimentary copy of his book, The Houseboat on the Styx, to a well known critic. On the fly leaf he inscribed: "To Brander Matthews, with the kind regards of the author—John Kendrick Bangs." A week or so later he was browsing about the Schulte book shop when he came upon the same volume lying on a marked-down table. Bangs, being the humorist he was, bought it and under what he had written previously added: "With renewed kind regards of the author—John Kendrick Bangs." And returned the volume to Matthews. Someone tells me that H. G. Wells will no longer autograph his books because he came upon several in second hand shops.

It's sharply refreshing how New York fathers now and then don evening duds and fare forth to flashy cafes with their gaily bedecked and attractive daughters. Only recently I saw Gurnee Munn, Esmond O'Brien and E. D. Coblenz indulging such companionship—dancing, laughing across the table tops and beaming with mutual pride. The same is true of many fathers who have the good sense to have a night out at intervals with collegiate sons. I do not mean nights of carousal—but evenings charged with gaiety of drifting from place to place, properly dinner jacketed and perhaps having a thin goblet of wine with dinner. Thus enjoying the father and son devoirs so notable among the well-bred classes of England. During a stay at Claridge's in London one winter there appeared dressed formally for dinner nightly a father and son. Always they had one dash of port after coffee, lifting and touching their glasses solemnly. Afterward they shook hands and apparently went their separate ways. The head waiter told me the mother and wife had been killed tragically in an auto accident two years before. Not once had he known them to miss dinner together or fail to drink the toast to her. Few incidents in life touched me so profoundly.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Whooping Cough

FOR SOME UNKNOWN reason, whooping cough is unusually prevalent in the springtime. It is a disease that ordinarily affects only infants and young children. Though it is not a serious ailment in itself, it often leads to some serious complication such as bronchitis, pneumonia, or even tuberculosis.

Dr. Copeland

Fortunately, as in diphtheria and scarlet fever, it is now possible to protect the young child against this disease. I have in mind the so-called "Sauter method" of inoculation. Your doctor will tell you about it.

It is especially advised, because whooping cough has a high mortality rate in children under two years of age. Even in those cases in which the treatment has not proved to be entirely effective, it may lessen the severity of the attack.

Occasionally a child contracts the disease even though the inoculation has been used. This happens, usually, because the child has been exposed to the disease before the end of the four months required to develop immunity against whooping cough. Although it takes four months for the immunity to be built up, once it is acquired it lasts for several years.

Saves Many Lives

The lives of many children will now be saved by this method of giving protection. It must not be forgotten, as I have told you, that this disease is a common cause for fatal cases of bronchitis, pneumonia and bronchial-pneumonia. The danger of these complications is particularly dangerous in the very young child. It is most feared, too, in the anemic and undernourished youngster.

Whooping cough is caused by a germ known as the "bacillus pertussis." The incubation period, the time before exposure and the appearance of the symptoms do not appear for a very much longer time after exposure.

At first the child appears to have a mild cold and has a cough. Frequent sneezing, running eyes, running nose and changes in the voice should arouse suspicion of infection. But the cough is the most important sign. It is a dry and irritating one. As the disease progresses, the cough comes on in paroxysms with the characteristic "whoop."

If your children have not as yet received protection against this disease, consult with your doctor. This is especially advised if there is an epidemic in your neighborhood.

Answers to Health Queries

L. H. Q.—What is the cause of warts? I have removed two myself and have had two more lanced. There seem to be five more appearing—all on my head. The last four were growing for about 15 years.

A.—The cause is unknown. A wen should have careful medical attention. Have your doctor advise you regarding the necessary treatment or procedure. In the meantime avoid all irritation of the parts.

R. H. Q.—I would like some advice to get rid of some warts. They are on my left hand and arm. I have about 55 of them. Please tell me a quick and sure way to get rid of warts?

A.—It is unwise for you personally to tamper with warts or any other growths. Consults your physician; he can best advise you.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

Rebels' Supporter To Interview Duce

GIBRALTAR, May 22.—Juan March, Spanish financier and backer of the insurgent revolt, sailed today for Italy, reputedly to see Premier Benito Mussolini.

The departure of March, who was reported to have seen I Duce in Rome last month and a group of other Spanish aristocrats, was believed to be in connection with unconfirmed reports that Italy is planning to recall her fighters from Spain.

Mining Firm Sued By Federal Agency

LISBON, May 22.—Ezra Van Horn as liquidating agent of the Bituminous Coal Producers Board, a federal agency organized in 1935, filed suit Thursday against the Columbiana Coal & Clay Co. of Salsville for $290.75 in allegedly unpaid assessments.

Van Horn, whose headquarters are in Cleveland and who is liquidator for Ohio District No. 4, states the defendant company owes the board two payments. The first was incurred Nov. 27, 1935, when the board assessed the company three mills per ton on the latter's 1934 tonnage. This totals $225.78. The second levy was made Jan. 22, 1936, at the rate of one cent a ton for November, December and January, aggregating $64.97.

The petition declares the company agreed to the terms of the code set up under the Bituminous Coal Conservation Act of 1933. Under this act the expense of administering the code was to be defrayed by those subject to the jurisdiction of the board. The plaintiff states company officials have been notified of their indebtedness and have failed to meet their obligations to date.

A Cute Little Stick

ALBERMARLE, N. C.—Mrs. W. H. Flythe was cooking. Her cute little dog brought her a stick and she tossed it into the fire.

There was an explosion, Mrs. Flythe suffered broken bones which required hospital treatment, the kitchen was wrecked, and the dog was scared out of the rest of his wits.

Neighbors said the stick was dynamite.

"Rich Cargoes" by Henry C. Rowland

CHAPTER XXII

Sandy was a Yale man, Sheffield Scientific School, and therefore thought immediately of the "Judges Cave" alleged to be over by East Rock. The reference was significant. He wondered if Vinckers had not traded Isobel, discovered the secret. But he answered casually: "Let's hope you're right. But such a trick strikes me as entirely out of role. The Colonel's latest character was that of Rajah."

He has played many roles," Vinckers said. "Well, we will stick on while and see. One thing is certain if hiding out he will soon get out of it."

So here was a declaration of intention. It left Sandy at a loss. The outlook of a siege was intolerable. And with affairs at their present status, Isobel would not judge. She must see the silly sort of business through. At any rate, the problem was now for Sandy to define. One of the fox and the goose and the sack of corn. Isobel would not leave Isobel with the island with these sleek wolves, nor would Sandy leave Isobel with one of them, at least. As for the precious quartette, they would not leave each other, to wear down the Colonel and to bleed him. It looked like a stalemate, a state of siege, like while it lasted, Sandy must, and in the house, keep within call of Isobel. The lupine glare in Vinckers' eyes whenever they rested on Isobel, which was all the time when she was present, warned Sandy that now with the Colonel absent, the servants gone, Isobel's danger was rubbing shoulders with her.

So also, as he learned a little later, was his own. Just before the sudden tropic nightfall he went off to shift into his dinner clothes. It was nearly dark when he started back ashore in the motor dinghy, but clear. Sandy's white shirt front was a distinctive note, a proper target against the opaque background. One that a skilled big game hunter could scarcely miss at a range of about two hundred yards.

There came a sharp report from the dense mangrove fringe back of the beach where Sandy had listened dazedly to Isobel's declaration. He felt the bullet's pulse of air against his neck.

His quartermaster, a young man who had done his service mine sweeping on the coast of France said briefly: "Not so good, sir."

"Not so good," Sandy agreed. "Stop her and listen."

The engine stopped instantly. Air and water were motionless, breathless, for the afternoon trade had died away. Through this silence they could hear distinctly the thrashing of bushes, then more faintly the padding of footsteps as somebody running swiftly toward the compound that enclosed the house.

"That checks," Sandy said. "There isn't a negro within miles. They think the devil's in the elephant and carried off the Colonel. That rifle was the Colonel's Springfield Sporter. . . . and the man who fired it Guy Vinckers, the Colonel's son-in-law. He's beating us to the landing, to prove an alibi. You wait and see."

The quartermaster considered this, then asked: "You got a gat, sir?"

"No. Listen here, Morris. This man Vinckers is a bad egg. He's got every reason to get me that such a rotten egg could have. Nobody left about the place, and an alibi all framed. But I think I can discourage him. You stand by now and answer according to my cue. Get me?"

"Yes, sir."

"All right. Go ahead."

They went on to the landing. Then as Sandy stepped out on the pier, Vinckers came strolling down from the terrace. He was breathing a little rapidly.

"What was that shot, Crewe?"

"It came from the mangrove," Sandy answered.

"Then you'd better mind your step. The blacks think now that Mouse is a boss devil and carried off the Colonel and Isobel."

"Well, they think he's bad medicine and you too, because you're responsible for him. They're out to break the medicine bottle. Honestly, Crewe I'd beat it out of here if I were you."

"Thanks for the advice. That rifle was a Springfield Sporter and I noticed that the gun rack was locked when I was in the house a little while ago."

"Which says—what?" Vinckers asked.

"That everything checks. Now listen to me, Vinckers. For Isobel's sake I can't afford to get myself assassinated just now when it would be so easy. We saw who fired that shot. Saw the man running for the compound." He turned to the quartermaster. "Is that right, Morris?"

"I'll say it is, sir."

"Then you must have damned good eyes," Vinckers said contemptuously. "The kind that see in the dark."

"It's not so dark," Sandy said. "and my sailing master out there aboard has got even better. He saw who fired the shot too and when Morris goes back aboard he will write a deposition to that effect and both of them will sign it. So if I get killed Vinckers, it will not be so good for you."

Vinckers received this brazen statement in silence.

"So that's the game," he said. "A straight case of frame."

"Call it what you like. Remember also that you're not in the United States."

He told the quartermaster to go back aboard and bear in mind what he had just said, then turned to walk up the steps. Vinckers fell in beside him.

"Do you really think you can get away with anything as raw as that, Crewe?"

"I know I can. These men of mine are strong for me. And it's no more raw than what you just tried."

"You're crazy. Wasn't I here?"

"Yes. And nobody else to fire that shot. No black within miles. If you could run behind Mouse to that place where you took a tumble and lost your watch you could trot from the mangroves o the terrace."

Vinckers was silent for a moment. There is nothing so to stall the framer as being framed, the turning against him of weapons on which he seems to feel he has a patent. Sandy's cool assurance of heartwhole perjury was more than disconcerting. And Vinckers had sense enough to know that such a deposition as Sandy had promised must weigh against him were he to carry out his murder plans.

He gave a short laugh and said. "I took you for a square shooter. My mistake."

"Well, be careful not to make another of them. And let's observe the outward forms of polite behavior."

Hester and Flavia came down as they went up on the terrace, and a few moments later, Isobel. Dinner was announced by Sandy's steward. The crushed look had gone, shadows lightened under her eyes. There was a look in them and about her mouth that seemed to tell of some stand taken, a fixed plan of action where before there had been wretched indecision.

The conversation was scattered, desultory. Sandy found himself covertly watching Hester to whom previously he had paid only casual attention. She was unquestionably beautiful, looked like Russian nobility and her diction was scarcely American. She had the throaty voice of the polyglot.

Her brother, Jarvis, did not resemble her at all, though he too seemed more foreign than American, Sandy thought. He asked Jarvis presently where he had been educated.

"Switzerland, France, Germany—all over the shop," Jarvis said with lassitude. Sandy had never heard him speak more than a few words at a stretch, and these slowly. His lips seemed to let words pass with reluctance, so that his diction dragged like that of a person who has learned a language from a textbook and is uncertain of it and unwilling to make a mistake. His accent was Anglican but with something under that. The chances were, Sandy thought, that he had been shifted from one to another of so many European schools that he had acquired a little the accent of all of them along with such vices as they might contain.

But whatever their characters, their defects, the Colonel's two children would at least have culture. Parsimony was not his fault. Then as dinner proceeded Sandy became conscious gradually that culture was precisely what they had not. That slight shade that distinguishes the person of birth, especially at table, was lacking. Even the beautiful Hester did not eat daintily, though Sandy could not have said just what was wrong. An incorrect transfer of food somewhere between the plate and her mouth, he thought. Yes, that was the trouble with them all. They got their heads too low. Seemed all to have a trick of thrusting forward at their food. Vinckers snapped at his like an animal.

Presently relaxed by food and drink, their first constraint began to wear off. Hitherto Sandy had not observed any of them particularly, his focus of attention on Isobel or the Colonel and, except for Vinckers, he had not heard them talk much, partly because they were not loquacious and partly because the Colonel monopolized the conversation.

But now as if relieved of some sort of compulsion they became more nearly themselves and the conviction grew in Sandy's mind that a good society editor would pronounce them a common lot.

These people impressed Sandy as

ESTIMATE RISE IN SUGAR COST

Officials Say Tax Would Cost Consumer 75 Cents a Year

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two stories by The Salem News presenting arguments on the effect on the consumer of the government's proposed excise tax on sugar.)

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Estimates based on government figures show that if the administration's proposed tax on raw sugar were passed on to consumers it would raise the average person's sugar bill a little more than 75 cents a year.

President Roosevelt, Secretary Wallace and congressmen supporting the tax plan, designed to finance benefit payments to producers, have declared the tax would not be passed on but would be borne by processors or others who handle sugar before it finally reaches the consuming public.

Sees Consumer Increase

Opponents of the tax, including H. E. Miles, chairman of the Fair Tariff league, said, however, that the cost to the consumer would be increased.

Provisions for the levy were included in a bill to set up a quota system to stabilize the domestic sugar industry. The system would determine the amount of raw sugar to be produced by domestic growers and the amount to be shipped into the country by the off-shore producing areas such as Cuba, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

The tax proposed was three-fourths of a cent a pound on raw sugar. The administration estimated this would yield an annual revenue of $100,000,000 of which $55,000,000 would go into benefit payments for mainland producers and those in Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

The proposed raw sugar tax is equal to about eight-tenths of a cent a pound on refined sugar and since the country's per capita consumption of refined sugar last year was about 96 pounds experts figured that if the consumer paid the tax, either directly or indirectly, his yearly sugar bill would be raised about 75 cents.

Says Sugar's Cheap

Representative Cummings (D-Colo.), sugar beet grower and chairman of the house sugar bloc, said there was "no use to worry about a tax, even if the consumer paid it all."

He argued that sugar, retailing at about five cents a pound is the cheapest food available when evaluated in terms of energy produced. The public, he added, could stand a "reasonable" increase in price because the annual individual sugar bill is low when compared with other food costs.

Proponents of the tax said that the refiner would find it difficult to pass the tax on to the public, even if the government permitted him to do so.

They cited government figures showing that most sugar is consumed in the form of prepared confection, candies, pastries and other commercial sweets.

"A baker wouldn't raise the price of a dollar cake to $1.01 because of the tax," Cummings said. "He would absorb it himself."

sufficiently well educated, traveled and accustomed to the best society but not from association on its own plane and he suddenly realized precisely what it was of which the present situation, this luncheon reminded him.

Women Jurors Faint At Sight of Sheet

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—Two women jurors, suddenly sickened by the sight of blood-stained bedclothing on which Frank C. Monaghan died, interrupted the murder trial of District Attorney James A. Reilly.

Mrs. Lulu Kreider, juror No. 9, glanced once at a sheet coughed and looked away quickly. Another juror covered her eyes.

Judge H. W. McNaughton recessed court for 15 minutes while they recovered.

The commonwealth charged Monaghan was beaten to death in the Fayette county Bertillon room where he was being questioned about the slaying of a detective.

Death Is Probed

McCONNELLSVILLE, May 22.—Coroner Edgar Northup said today he had not yet determined whether bruises found on the body of Dr. Daniel W. Trout, 62, of Stockport, during an autopsy, had caused his death. Meanwhile officers held two men for questioning in connection with the death. Dr. Trout's body was found by his wife, Lollie, in their home Wednesday night.

HOME BUYING AND BUILDING

... are Easier Now!

Perhaps you think of home buying as the making of large mortgage payments four times a year and the paying of large tax bills every six months.

That was the old method of paying for a home but today, thanks to the Federal Housing Administration, payments may be much easier. One convenient payment each month, like rent, takes care of everything—reduction of principal, interest, taxes and insurance.

If you have an assured income and part of the necessary costs, why not take advantage of the F. H. A. plan? Property is reasonable in price now and building costs are down in Ohio as elsewhere. If you are thinking of buying or building, ask us how we can help you and other credit-worthy Ohioans to get an F. H. A. loan.

RELIEF FUNDS CUT IS SOUGHT

However, Senate economy Group Loses Initial House Battle

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Economy advocates, defeated in the house in an attempt to cut $500,000,000 from President Roosevelt's relief program, decided today to renew their battle in the senate.

House debate on the appropriation will continue Monday, although a vote of 210 to 128 gave tentative approval late yesterday to the administration's $1,500,000,000 request for work-relief in the year beginning July 1.

The vote was one of a series taken on attempts to amend the bill. The house rejected proposals to change the relief sum to $1,000,000,000, $1,200,000,000, $2,200,000,000, $2,900,000,000, and $3,000,000,000.

Leaders expected the senate appropriations committee to begin hearings on the measure as soon as the house passes it. The first senate witness will be Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress administrator.

Hopkins made a last-minute appearance at a closed meeting of house Democrats before the voting began yesterday.

The WPA chief, who has said 500,000 persons will be dropped from the rolls under the President's measure, addressed the party's assistant whips in support of the $1,500,000,000 fund.

The President's figure won against attacks both from "economy bloc" congressmen, who said an even billion would be adequate to relieve distress, and from a self-styled liberal group, whose members declared:

"Millions will be scouring the country for something to eat within six months."

Although the house settled the major question of "how much?" it still must decide certain administrative problems and must pass on requests for earmarking certain funds before taking the final vote on the measure.

Lisbon High Honor Students Selected

LISBON, May 22.—Miss Virginia Muntean and Miss Nina Parry are first and second, respectively, in scholarship among the 74 members of Lisbon High school's graduating class. Ranking next are Fred George and Arlene Peterson.

The graduates will hear Guy M. Bingham, former superintendent of Lisbon schools, deliver the commencement address the evening of May 27 at the Presbyterian church. Mr. Bingham is a well known lecturer and author now residing in Washington D. C. The High school orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

Mrs. May Marquis will entertain members of the Monday club May 24 at the Warner tea room. A paper entitled, "Finland," will be read by Miss Jane Way and Mrs. Frank Hiseox will discuss "Foreign News."

The first of the summer band concerts will be held this evening with the High school band providing the music.

County Auditor John Irwin and Deputy Ray Adams attended a meeting of the Northeastern Ohio Auditor's association at Akron, Friday.

POLICE BAFFLED BY CO-ED DEATH

Ohio State Art School Model Found Shot Through Heart

COLUMBUS, May 22.—The death early today of Virginia Dillon, 18-year-old Ohio State university art school model, baffled investigators seeking to determine if she was a murder or suicide victim.

Shot in the heart, the pretty girl was found dead in the bathroom of her home, a few blocks from the campus district shortly after midnight.

Police reports first listed the death as a suicide, but members of her family refused to accept that theory and Coroner Edward E. Smith ordered an autopsy.

A revolver was found near her body, but Jack Dillon, brother of young divorcee, expressed belief she may have been shot elsewhere, but that she tried to take the blame for the shooting.

Hiding Gun
"From the way the gun was found, I believe she was in the bathroom to hide it," Dillon told police. "It looks like she was bending over to shove it under the tub when she fell to the floor."

Dillon said he had picked up his sister after she had visited a beer tavern with several other girls. He said she may have been shot before he met her.

"She looked pale and sick," he added. "She acted dazed. She didn't shoot herself at home, I don't believe."

Mrs. Mary Dillon said she admitted Virginia to the house and that her daughter entered without saying a word.

A thud in the bathroom, Mrs. Dillon said, led to finding of the body.

"None of us heard a shot or smelled gun powder," Mrs. Dillon asserted.

The daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Carpenter has been named Peggy Lou.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Shreve left Monday for Tar Heel, N. C. Clark Shreve, who has been teaching there, will return with them.

Mrs. Charles Morlan, Mrs. Wilson Morlan, Mrs. Emerson Conrad and Mrs. Eva Morlan attended the Middleton club with Mrs. Rebecca Cadwallader of Salem Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shreve of Alliance spent Thursday with Miss Laura Pettit.

David Park of Baden, Pa., is visiting his sisters, Mrs. Lorena Pearce and Mrs. Elmira Crum.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Shreve entertained Mr. and Mrs. Francis Walton of Philadelphia and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellyson at dinner Wednesday.

Mrs. Cherry Ladd has returned to her home in Youngstown after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Allen West.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Elton and Adrian McDonald of Salem visited Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McDonald Sunday.

Miss Laura Pettit and Mr. and Mrs. Will Swartz visited Mrs. Mary McDonald and Miss Alice Lamb of Canton recently.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stanley attended a birthday surprise party for Mrs. J. G. Pim of East Goshen Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bagley and daughter Margaret were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stanley.

Mrs. Isabel Barber and Mrs. Alice Bye attended a mother-daughter banquet of the American Legion auxiliary of Salem recently.

Plans are now being made for the religious camp meeting, which will begin June 13 and end June 27.

The work of our ministry is not to build a name for the church, or ourselves, but it is to help men and women, boys and girls to get right with God and prepare to meet Him to whom we must give an account. A welcome is extended to all to attend our church.

Science Society Services Sunday

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read at the morning worship service of the Christian Science Society church tomorrow. The lesson-sermon is also broadcast over radio station WHK in Cleveland every second and fourth Sunday in the month.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, while on Wednesday the regular mid-week service will be held at the church at 8 p. m.

The Golden Text for tomorrow is: "Rejoice in the Lord, ye who are poor, for the Lord will lift up your soul" (Psalms 86:4).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's" (1 Corinthians 6:19, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we realize that Life is Spirit, never in nor of matter, this understanding will expand into self-completeness, finding all in God, good, and needing no other consciousness. Spirit and its formations are the only realities of being" (p. 264).

Services Arranged For Salvation Army

Services for the Salvation Army tomorrow and next week as announced today by Captain Samuel Shannon, officer in charge of the local barracks are as follows:

Sunday

Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., Holiness meeting.

All calls for prayer or spiritual advice will be answered by Captain and Mrs. Shannon at any time of the day or night.

"God" Sermon Theme At Service Sunday of Trinity Church

"God" is the subject of the sermon which will be preached by Rev. George D. Keister at the morning worship service tomorrow, the festival of Holy Trinity.

Complete services for the church tomorrow and announcements are as follows:

Sunday school, 9:45; Genesis 25:27-34. Charles W. Youtz, superintendent.

"First things always belong first. The demands of life are not all physical. Some make the mistake in thinking that life would be ideal and perfect if the abundance of physical necessities were provided. Life is more than that. Appetites must be mastered and greed must be subdued if the highest type of life is reached. A birthright is worth far more than a mess of pottage. Treasures of heaven are more valuable than all the treasures of this earth."

Morning worship 11:00; sermon by the pastor.

"This small word of three letters is not equal in importance and content by any other word of whatever length. It has eternity summed up in it. In the church year, this Sunday is set aside to honor the Triune God, Father, Son and Holy Ghost. There is only one God, but there are three persons, Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Hence God is the Holy Trinity or the Three in One. We cannot understand or explain how God can be three Persons and yet only one God. But we must not expect with our finite mind to comprehend the infinite God. We must accept the truth concerning God as He Himself has revealed it to us in His Word."

Luther league 6:30. Devotional topic, "Making the Most of Life," leader, Minerva Lingelbach.

Announcements
Lydia Bible class meets Monday evening with Mrs. C. G. Blackburn at 8 p. m. Leader, Mrs. L. Laurain; subject, "A Great Lutheran Hymn."

6:30 p. m., Christian Endeavor societies and adult prayer circle.

7:30 p. m., worship with illustrated message by Herman Stratton, assisted by the pastor. Theme, "A Sure Harvest."

Announcements
Beginning Monday night at 7:30, Rev. Milton B. Lindberg will give his first lecture on "World Conditions In The Light of Bible Prophecy." His subjects will be: "Remarkable Prophecies Fulfilled—Is the Bible Inspired?"; Tuesday, "Regathering of Israel and the Coming Messiah"; Wednesday, "Setting the Stage In Palestine and In Russia for the Greatest Conflict In History"; Thursday, "When Will Jerusalem Be the Capital of the World?"; and Friday, "Signs of the Times and the Sign."

The colored pictures used by Rev. Lindberg are of the best type and his humble way of presenting Bible truth makes his lectures very impressive and fascinating. Rev. Lindberg's coming to Salem is approved by the Salem Ministerial association and all the services will be of an interdenominational nature. Features of these services will be special music from the various churches.

As these lectures will be of great interest to the Jewish people of Salem, a hearty invitation is extended you dear people to whom has been entrusted the giving and preserving the scriptures to all generations. Rev. Lindberg has often given his lectures in synagogues of different cities.

Emmanuel Lutheran Services Tomorrow Listed by Minister

Services tomorrow for the Emmanuel American Lutheran church, 231 South Broadway, as announced by Rev. John Bauman, are as follows:

The Sunday school meets at 9 a. m.; Lee Schaefer superintendent.

The pastor's Bible class meets at 9:15 in the church auditorium.

Divine worship service at 10 a. m. The pastor's sermon topic is, "The Great Sea Divine." This Sunday the Christian church celebrates the festival of the Holy Trinity.

This festival is the last Sunday in the festival cycle of the Christian church year, and it is at the same time, its sum. In it combine Christmas, the festival of the love of the Father in the gift of His Son; Good Friday, the festival of the loving sacrifice of the Son for the sins of the world; Easter, the festival of the victory of the Prince of Life; Ascension, the festival of the triumph of the Conqueror of sin, death and the devil; Pentecost, the festival of the manifestation and glorification of the Holy Spirit; all these combine as in one great sum this day as we unite in the worship and praise of the Holy Trinity, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

German service at 11 a. m.

Sunday evening the members of the Senior Lutheran league will attend the Mission festival of the Lutheran league of Youngstown, at Martin Luther church, Youngstown.

Old Timers Show Punch In Chalking Up First League Win

Veterans Of City League Softball Start Campaign With Win Over O. Edison

Old Timers Pound Brad Akens for 12 Hits To Record 14-5 Victory; Error by Demings Gives Mullins Foremen Win In Other Class A Tilt

Those veterans of the Class A City Softball league, calling themselves the Old Timers, stepped out for the first time of the 1937 season at Centennial park last evening and pulled up with a 14 to 5 win over the Ohio Edison in one of the senior circuit's two games.

Showing that there's still plenty of punch left in their bats, the Old Timers pounded Pitcher Brad Akens of the Ohio Edison for 12 hits to score four times in the first inning, six times in the third frame and four times in the fourth.

They didn't do bad in fielding either, making only one error in handling numerous chances during the five innings of play.

Sam Early, former Salem hardware hurler, received credit for the Old Timers' victory, pitching nine-hit ball as he went the full route on the mound.

Jim Primm and Ted Scott led the veterans in hitting, banging out three safe blows apiece.

The defeat was the second the Ohio Edison has suffered in as many league games.

The other Class A tilt saw the defending champions, Mullins Foremen, capitalize on a fifth-inning error to nose out Demings, 7 to 6.

The Pumpmakers had the victory packed away until the final frame when Pitcher Brudery dropped the ball while touching Jerome Kaiser as he raced to first after hitting hard to the box. The error on what would have been the third out permitted two Mullins runs to cross the plate.

Given good fielding support, Earl McNamie turned in a three-hit pitching performance for the champion Foremen. Brudery allowed seven hits in his work on the mound for Demings.

The ridiculous and the sublime marked Class B league play last evening with the Friends barely beating the Methodists, 3-2, in a well-pitched game and the Christians losing to the Trinity Lutherans 17 to 9 in a hitting fest.

Only five hits were made in the Methodists-Friends game with Henry Smith of the M. E.'s allowing three safe blows and Bob Jeffries of the Friends, two.

Twenty-nine hits were marked up in the other Class B tilt as the Trinity Lutherans hammered out 15 singles and the Christians, 14.

MACK MAY TRY DUKE INFIELD FOR HIS TEAM

Former College Players Slated to Play For Philly Team

NEW YORK, May 22.—There's a young man by the name of Wayne Ambler, from Duke university, who's probably going to play second base for the Philadelphia Athletics next year, not a startling statement except when taken in connection with the fact that a young man named Ace Parker will probably play shortstop.

For Parker, better known as an All-American football player, is from Duke university, too, and the linking of the twain will mean something that never before has happened in major league baseball. It will mean an all-Duke university infield for the Philadelphia Athletics.

Before that happens, of course, various things must develop in Philadelphia. Parker must be made into a shortstop. Lamar Newcomb, the present shortstop, must keep on falling to hit the size of his neckband.

But the other two bases are already claimed. One is occupied by "Chubby" Dean, of Duke, and the other by Will Werber who learned his baseball on the Durham campus and carried it successfully and successfully from New York to Boston to Philadelphia. In other words, Werber is established. Dean isn't far away, either.

He was a tremendous pinch hitter last year and, in spite of small hands, won the first base job this time from all aspirants. He was, as a matter of fact, a major leaguer from the moment he went to bat as a pinch hitter in an Athletic-Cardinal training camp game and singled home in the winning runs.

He apparently was a first baseman by instinct, even while messing around as pitcher and outfielder at Duke.

Parker Much the Same. They tell me that Parker is much the same kind of a mouth organ. He played the outfield at Duke because Spring football practice always occupied so much of his time that the outfield was the only thing he could master.

However, when the present season opened with the annual exhibition series with the Phillies, the Athletics had three Duke men on the bases, Parker filling in at second. Many times since, he has come through as a pinch hitter and apparently all set with the Philadelphia club. The understanding is that he's a natural shortstop.

If this seems to put the matter up to Ambler, dismiss the idea. For he's probably the best infielder Duke ever had, meaning that he'll either make the major leagues—or they won't know what they're talking about.

Springfield Holds To M-A Loop Lead
COLUMBUS, May 22.—Springfield held tightly to the mid-Atlantic baseball league leadership today, with Portsmouth hot on the Indians' trail.

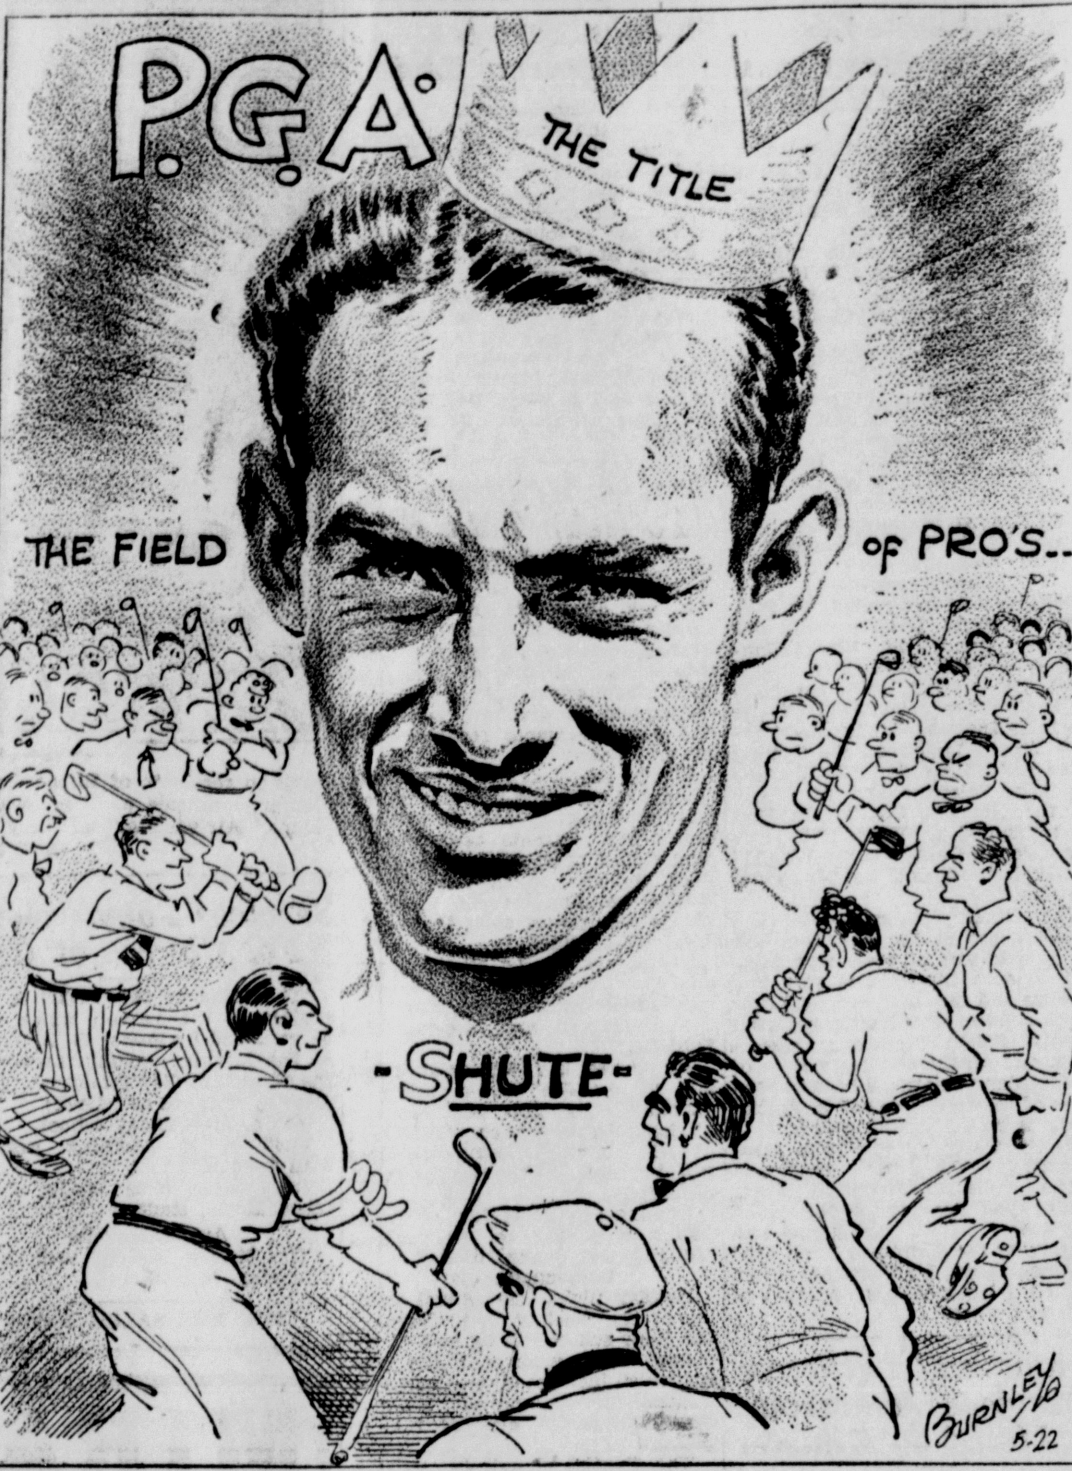

While the Indians were nosing out Johnstown, Pa., 11 to 10, last night at Springfield, Portsmouth won its sixth straight game by taking the long end of a 6-5 score over Zanesville.

Springfield has won 10 and lost four and Portsmouth has won eight and lost five.

Canton's 9 to 8 defeat by Charleston, W. Va., at Canton put the Terriers in third place with seven wins and five losses.

Archie Williams
One of Uncle Sam's Olympic stars, Archie Williams, dusky quarter-miler of the University of California track team, is going great guns this year and is expected to be one of the outstanding track stars of the year. Archie holds the world's record of 46.1 for the 400 meters.

KREPP'S QUINT WINS MATCHES

Captures Duckpin Championship of Salem China Plant

Cal Krepps' team held the duckpin championship of the Salem China plant today after defeating Clem Scullion's and Gene Pugh's quintets in three-way competition at the Grate Recreation alleys.

The Krepps five rolled 1,728 to top Scullion's team with 1,694 and Pugh's with 1,612.

Scullion turned in the best individual score in the championship match with a 438 series on games of 136, 140 and 162. Summaries of the scores made by the three teams follow:

College Aviators Rally At Gambier For Flying Tourney

GAMBIER, May 22.—Collegiate aviators take to the air here today for feats of aviation skill in the first Midwest Inter-Collegiate Flying meet.

Six schools will have entries, with Kenyon's experienced aviators expected to cop honors. Flyers also will come from Ohio State, Akron, Harvard, Pennsylvania and Purdue.

Competition will range from dropping bombs made up of flour bags to "paper-rafting," which is the art of dropping a roll of paper from the sky and cutting it with the wings of a plane.

"This meet has two fundamental purposes," said Donald M. Gretzer, head of the Kenyon school of aeronautics. "First of all it is like any other intercollegiate game, fascinating sport for the participants; secondly, it develops a skill in flying which contributes to the safety of flying."

It is also designed to stimulate interest in flying among other colleges.

Chicago Cubs, Boston Bees Discover There's No Good Substitute For Pitching

Both Outfits Suddenly Come to Life After Fooling Around With Hurling Staffs; Bees Muffle Pirates For 6-3 Victory

It took Chicago's Cubs and Boston's Bees a long time to find it out but they are finally convinced that baseball has never produced a suitable substitute for good pitching.

For the entire first month of the season, both outfits fooled around trying to buck the old belief, and both got nowhere—fast. The experimenting Bees dropped to the National league cellar. The Cubs, trying to make up for pitching injuries by heavy hitting, creaked into the second division.

JOERGER HEADS BUCKEYE LOOP

Cincinnati Is Elected President of College Conference

DELAWARE, May 22.—With Dr. C. A. Joerger of the University of Cincinnati elected president of the Buckeye conference, the six-club league's attention centered today on finals of the annual track and tennis championships.

When hurdles preliminaries were completed yesterday, there was little indication whether the slightly-favored Miami Redskins, or Ohio Wesleyan or Ohio university would take the track meet today. No qualifiers were held in most of the events.

Each of the three schools placed two men in both the low and high hurdles, which saw elimination of entrants from the University of Cincinnati's squad which has been handicapped by lack of an adequate field.

Athletes from four Buckeye schools entered the semi-finals of both the tennis singles and doubles. Singles players were Roach of Ohio U., Jones of Ohio Wesleyan, Moore of Miami and Moskowitz of Cincinnati. Doubles semi-finalists today were Moore-Thompson of Miami, Jones-Row of Wesleyan, Moskowitz-Zimov of Cincinnati and Roach-Steinhausner of Ohio.

Dr. Joerger, the Buckeye's new president, succeeds A. C. Conger of Ohio Wesleyan. Bernard Schad of Dayton U. was named vice president and Paul Walp of Marshall elected to the executive committee. George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The Buckeye coaches voted to hold the 13th annual track meeting on the Ohio university field at Athens May 21 next year and approved a list of football officials and set the opening fall football practice date as Sept. 6.

KENYON TENNIS SQUAD LEADING

Set Pace In Annual Ohio Conference Net Meet At Gambier

GAMBIER, May 22.—Kenyon college players led the way into the two final rounds of the Ohio conference tennis tournament today, paced by Don McNeill, national indoor junior champion.

McNeill meets Bill Holzworth of Otterbein and Morey Lewis of Kenyon, sixth national ranking junior, meets Ed Rathbun of Toledo in semi-final singles matches, with the probability that the two Kenyon aces will meet in the finals.

Pryor and Reeder of Kenyon play Bald and Slater of Muskingum in one doubles semi-final while Rathbun and Fall of Toledo meet Sundberg and Gourley of Wittenberg in the other.

McNeill lost four games in beating Kraus of Case, Slater of Muskingum and Debussey of Marietta and Lewis dropped five in eliminating Wisse of Case and Wolfe of Marietta.

Teams entered in the tourney were Kenyon, Marietta, Wittenberg, Toledo, Oberlin, Case, Muskingum, Otterbein and Kent State.

Yesterday's STARS

GEORGE CASTER and WALLY MOSES, Athletics—Former stopped White Sox with four hits; Moses hit two-run homer in 4-3 victory.

SPUD DAVIS, Reds—His pinch single in eighth drove in winning run in 6-5 win over Phillies.

HANK GREENBERG, Tigers—Hit homer with one on base in 4-2 victory over Red Sox.

DUCKY MEDWICK, Cardinals—Hit homer and single, driving in four runs in 11-2 triumph over the Dodgers.

JOHNNY HEATH, Indians—Hit two triples, driving in two runs, in 7-5 win over Senators.

STAN HACK, Cubs—Led 12-hit attack against Giants with three hits and two runs.

DANNY MACFAYDEN, Bees—He snapped Pirates' winning streak with seven-hit pitching for 6-3 victory.

LOU GEHRIG and BILL DICKEY, Yankees—Gehrig hit homer, double and single; Dickey singled in winning run in 4-3 win over Browns.

FORMER OFFICER AWAITS VERDICT

Jury Debating Fate of
One-Time Duquesne
Patrolman

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, May 22.—A jury today convicted Martin J. Sullivan, 33-year-old former policeman, of first degree murder and recommended death in the electric chair for the slaying of Mrs. Laura Bacon, social worker.

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—Seventy-three-year-old Martin J. Sullivan awaited in a jail cell today the words that will send him to the electric chair, a prison or an insane asylum.

He could not hope for freedom. Judge J. Frank Graff told a jury the defense had not denied the former Duquesne patrolman shot and killed five neighbors in a door-to-door death march last December.

The jury could return any one of five verdicts: first degree murder with a recommendation of death, or of life imprisonment; second degree murder, voluntary manslaughter or a verdict of not guilty because of insanity.

Sullivan, who had grinned and chuckled at stories of the slayings, slumped in his chair and stared at the floor as the jury left the court room.

The commonwealth demanded the electric chair, asserting Sullivan killed the five because "they dragged into public his... life" by charging him with molesting a 10-year-old girl.

A woman juror wept as the defense counsel, Edward Coll, pleaded for mercy.

"What good will it do the commonwealth to put Martin Sullivan in Rockview penitentiary so that a lot of curious people can go up there and listen to his flesh sizzle?" he cried.

SOVIETS BUILD AIR LINE BASE

Russian Explorers Establish North Pole Landing Post

Arctic winter on Rudolf island, about 82 degrees north and 60 east, where they had established the settlement that until now was the most northerly in the world.

Four of the 11 men who worked the daring party will remain at the permanent base at the North Pole for a year, studying conditions in the polar "birthplace of weather."

They are Ivan Papanin, in command of the base; Ernest Krenkel, radio operator; Pyotr Shirsov, a hydro-biologist; and Eugene Fedorov, magnetologist.

In preparation for their lonely vigil, the quartet spent the week of Feb. 19 to Feb. 25 in a tiny tent 13 miles outside of Moscow—symbolically the same distance they now are from the pole—living, working and studying in the same quarters.

With the 38 other members of the party, they left Moscow March 23 to join the rest of the expedition which already was at work on Rudolf island. At that time, high officials denied the group was aiming at the North Pole.

Secrecy about their departure troubled that which had guarded the years of work leading up to the six hour and 10 minute flight over the polar wastes.

Final plans were begun last summer when the ice breaker Rusanoff sailed for Rudolf island with the final consignment of equipment and supplies. The project almost ended in premature disaster when the Rusanoff was caught in the ice pack, saving itself only after days of struggle.

The radio station to be set up will have 70 watts power and will be equipped to operate on both short and long waves. Amateur operators all over the world are expected to be able to communicate with the new settlement.

The station will be centered about a little black, fur-lined hut, 10 feet long and 6 feet 9 inches wide, equipped with many of the comforts of home.

The four men will have 48 different kinds of food, including concentrated meat from 5,000 chickens, concentrated eggs, milk and sausage.

Over heavy woolen underwear they will wear shirts of reindeer fur, wolf for stockings and fur trousers.

DEATHS

MRS. A. M. McLAUGHLIN
COLUMBIANA, May 22.—Mrs. Minetta McLaughlin, 58, wife of A. M. McLaughlin, Sr., died at 3:30 p. m. Friday at her home on the East Palestine rd.

Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery following funeral service at the Sebring Nazarene church Sunday afternoon.

Told of Evidence

HAMILTON, May 22.—Three men, indicted for murder, were advised today of a part of the evidence the state intends to present against them.

The men, William Hobbs, 32, John Agnew, 33, and Vincent Rose, 24, of Metamora, Ind., accused of slaying Patrolman Arthur Sponkel on April 12 were told, under a ruling of Common Pleas Judge P. P. Boli, where the state claims they were when Sponkel was shot and what he was doing. They asked this and additional information in bills of particulars on which Judge Boli ruled.

THEATER Attractions

One of the most brilliant film successes to come out of the film capital recently is "The Prince and the Pauper," which will be seen at the State Sunday and Monday.

Stars of the engaging and well-loved Mark Twain story are two youngsters, twins, Bobby and Billy Mauch, who give thoroughly delightful and convincing performances.

Their Paths Cross
The cast also includes Claude Rains, Errol Flynn, Henry Stephenson, Barton MacLane and others.

Briefly the story concerns two youngsters, one a prince, the other a beggar born at exactly the same time in London, one in the palace and the other in a thieves' hovel.

The picture is followed at the State by "Marked Woman," another fine piece of work, which shows Tuesday and Wednesday.

Bette Davis returns to the screen after too long an absence as Mary, clip joint hostess and central figure in a story whose sensational theme involves a vicious racket and its break-up.

Humphrey Bogart, Eduardo Cidnell, Isabelle Jewell, Rosalind Marquis, Lola Lane, Jane Bryan and many other well-known players are seen in important supporting roles.

Janet Gaynor Back
Janet Gaynor's first picture in recent months is the technicolor, "A Star Is Born," in which the petite actress is cast opposite Fredric March. The picture will be seen at the State Thursday through Saturday.

Adolphe Menjou, May Robson, Andy Devine and Lionel Stander have supporting roles in the story of "Charlie Chan at the Olympics," starring Warner Oland, concludes tonight at the State theater.

Two double bills and a western comprise the Grand theater offerings for the week.

The Sunday, Monday and Tuesday features will be "Racketeers in Exile," with George Bancroft, Evelyn Venable and Wynne Gibson, and Olsen and Johnson in "Country Gentlemen" with Joyce Compton and Lila Lee.

"The Great Hospital Mystery," with Jane Darwell, Sig Ruman, Sally Blane, Thomas Beck and Joan Davis, and a return of Joe E. Brown's "When's Your Birthday?" are featured Wednesday and Thursday.

Tim McCoy in "The Lion's Den" concludes the week's program at the Grand.

The Gene Autry western, "Ride, Ranger, Ride," will be seen at the Grand for the last times tonight.

Lisbon Will Send Youth to Columbus

LISBON, May 22.—Donald Korn, outstanding Lisbon High school student, has been designated by the local American Legion post to attend a convocation of boys from all parts of the state at Columbus the forepart of June.

Each Legion post in the state is sponsoring a representative at this meeting. The boys will take over all state offices for one day and in addition will govern their encampment at the state fair grounds, setting up all types of public offices from township trustees to a mimic state legislature.

The boys will be stationed in barracks at the fair grounds and will remain there for 10 days with their sponsors defraying expenses.

He cut $60,250 for utility lines and campus improvements at Ohio State university, $15,000 for an air compressor at the Ohio hospital for epileptics at Gallipolis, $10,000 for repairs at the Ohio State sanatorium at Mt. Vernon, and $2,500 for a game refuge in Washington township, Henry county.

Davey vetoed four bills which would have plugged loopholes in the sales tax law and increase its revenue an estimated $3,000,000 a year; authorized counting of election ballots at central places in Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties; established a retirement system for county and municipal employees, and regulated the speed of motor boats in state park reservoirs.

He signed bills to limit the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in their own townships in criminal cases unless an affidavit was filed by the county prosecutor or a state or federal agent, and authorize the state to enter into agreements with other states for uniform extradition procedure and for the out-of-state supervision of persons paroled from penal institutions.

CONFESS KILLING SCHOOL TEACHER

Chicago Youths Held Under Heavy Guard; Mob Violence Feared

PIERRE, S. D., May 22.—Two Chicago youths accused of slaying a woman school teacher who befriended them, were placed under heavy guard here today as a precaution against possible mob violence.

Sheriff Jack Reedy of Sully county hurriedly removed the youths from the jail at Onida last night because "feeling is running high" there. No demonstrations or threats were made but the sheriff said the slaying had caused much excitement.

Assistant State Attorney General Elsworth Evans said the pair, Norman Westberg, 17, and Howard Christenson, 16, confessed fatally shooting and robbing Miss Ada Carey, 26, of Blunt, S. D. Sheriff Reedy said they will be charged with murder.

Driving Home
Miss Carey was driving to her home after completing her year's work at Frankfort, S. D., when the boys asked for a ride. She identified her assailants shortly before her death a few hours after the attack.

The youths were captured by a hastily formed posse consisting of scores of men armed with rifles and shotguns. The boys had $6.20 when captured. Miss Carey's purse, containing $10, was found nearby.

Evans said the youths confessed they were motivated by a desire to get the teacher's money and car so they might continue a trip to California. He said Christenson, sitting in the rear seat of the car, struck Miss Carey three times in the head with a hammer and that Westberg, in the front seat, shot the teacher in the hand and chest.

The prosecutor said the boys then put Miss Carey in the rear seat and Westberg drove the car until it overturned in a ditch. A salesman driving behind the speeding automobile saw the accident and the boys flee on foot. He notified authorities.

Amelia Flies Again

Two Lucky Graduates
The Giant Watch in our window is due to stop very soon now. When it does the hands will point out the names of our two lucky graduates who will be given GRUEN Watches.

Nothing serves so well as a watch to symbolize this day of days—Graduation. It means the end of youthfulness and the fulfillment of school-day dreams. What more fitting companion to recall this day forever and to measure the golden days of the future, than a fine watch?

Man Hurt As Flames Destroy His Garage

ALLIANCE, May 22.—Mrs. Gilmore, 66, proprietor of an auto repair shop at 262½ East State st., suffered severe burns about the back and shoulders when flames destroyed his garage yesterday.

Mr. Gilmore, who also maintains his residence at the garage, was burned when gasoline he was putting in a stove was ignited by an oil light.

DEATHS LAST NIGHT

NEW YORK.—Dr. Edward M. Van Cleave, 70, former president of the Ohio state commission for the blind, and the first managing director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Berta C. Bamberger, 72, member of the board of national Kindergarten association and long a leader in Jewish and non-sectarian welfare and civic organizations.

The Port Clinton plant employing 170 men, was closed by a strike of 70 employees affiliated with the United Automobile Workers, whose officials demanded re-employment of a union workman.

The agreement also provides the company deal with the committee for industrial organization affiliating a national labor relations board decision on a bargaining unit for the plant. Four American Federation of Labor Craft unions had petitioned the board, asking to represent the workers.
